FACT SHEET 2024

At ITBA, you will have the opportunity to combine your academic studies with a multicultural experience that will allow you to expand your personal and professional horizons. Our mission is to educate professionals committed to the country's technological development and with competitive skills in the international market.

Instituto Tecnológico de Buenos Aires - ITBA

Instituto Tecnológico de Buenos Aires was created on November 20th, 1959, and it is the only private University in Argentina specialized in Technology, Engineering, and Management. For 60 years, it has contributed to solve the challenges humanity faces through university education of renowned excellence, the production of scientific knowledge, and international collaboration. Since its foundation, it has educated students with values such as innovation, creativity, entrepreneurship, and leadership. It pursues a unique educational model in the country aimed at research and project generation, together with the early connection of students with companies. ITBA is a University committed to the country and the people's progress that promotes the development of innovative, entrepreneurial, disruptive, agile professionals with a sustainable vision and a vocation to transform the world.

Today, the University has expanded and has several campuses, such as the Financial District Campus and the Technological District Campus.

Currently, over 11 thousand ITBA graduates are working in the professional world, in public and private companies, and even with their personal ventures and highly successful projects.

Other issues

— Visa

Students need to apply for a VISA before arriving in Buenos Aires. Visa de estudiante - 365 | Ministerio de Relaciones Exteriores, Comercio Internacional y Culto.

Students who do not need a visa for entering as a tourist in Argentina must get their student visa through Tramitación de Ingreso Electrónica - TIE 24H

Students who need a visa for entering as a tourist must contact the Consular Office of the Argentine Republic in the place of residence of the foreign nation as soon as they receive their Admission Letter from ITBA.

Important: ITBA won't accept students who haven't got their student visa before entering Argentina, since entering as a tourist and changing their status once they arrive will no longer be accepted.

— Medical Insurance

An Argentine national health insurance is mandatory. Reimbursement systems are not accepted. All students should be covered during their entire stay at ITBA.

This must include in-country coverage as well as medical evacuation and repatriation.

ITBA recognizes the plan offered by the company William Hope, which provides access to medical appointments, tests and emergencies without the need for prior approval from the insurance company, and does not have any deductibles or copayments.

Students with pre-existing conditions that may not be covered by local insurance should contact the International Relations Office before arrival to discuss their medical needs and insurance coverage. Students who wish to purchase alternative local coverage must send the details of said coverage to the International Relations Office before arrival for its approval.

— About studying in Buenos aires and Housing

ITBA, as every university in Argentina, is an urban campus, fully integrated into the city. Buenos Aires has increasingly become a preferred destination for students from all over the world and is well equipped to welcome them by offering a wide range of accommodation facilities, for every budget and preference. Universities in the city do not count with their own student residences.

Exchange students can find different housing options in the following link: Study Buenos Aires. Alternatively, the Buddies (mentioned below) can recommend a list of options, including family houses, rental flats, etc.

— Estimated monthly living costs

Housing and food: 700 USD Health insurance: 80 USD Transport: 30 USD

— ITBA Buddies

The Buddies Program is an initiative developed by the International Relations Office and implemented by ITBA student volunteers. The task of this group is to provide advice and support to exchange students coming to our University from the moment ITBA accepts their application until their very last day in Buenos Aires!
